Youth Drowns Monday Afternoon While Wading Pea River

The Rescue Squad returns to shore with body of the drowning victim.

Fifteen-year-old Terry Bryant drowned Monday afternoon in Pea River while cooling off in the fast flowing waters of the river just above the junction with Beaver Dam Creek. Bryant was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bryant of Taylor Mill Road.

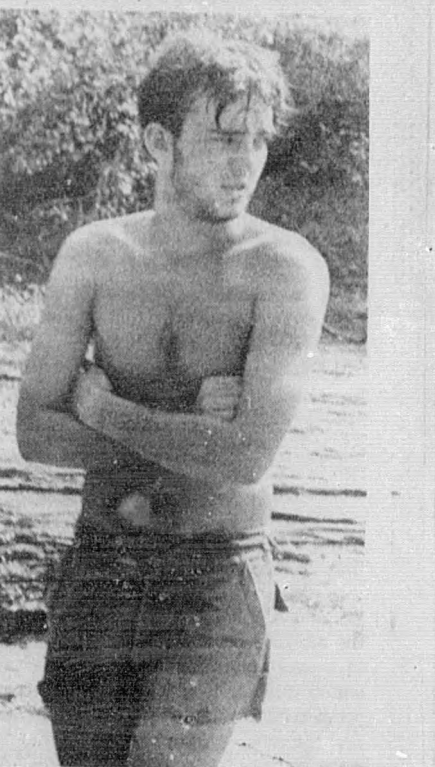

At 3:00 p.m. it was reported to the Elba Police Department that Terry had slipped into a deep hole while wading in the river and that he couldn't swim.

The friend enjoying the river with Bryant, Billy Veasey, said the youth went under, came back up and the last time he saw him go under, he was almost directly across from the junction of Beaver Dam and Pea River. People knowledgeable about the river bottom in the area speculate that he may have waded into some soft, sliding sand and, after losing his footing, he was swept into the deep water and drowned before regaining his footing. Even with the dry conditions in Coffee County, the river still contains some 12-foot-deep holes in the immediate area.

Dragging efforts by the Elba Rescue Squad and divers from the Elba and New Brockton Rescue Squads combed the area of the drowning, and for several hundred yards downstream until about 6:45 when a diver found his body very near the spot he was last seen.

Rescue units from Elba and New Brockton worked on the scene as did Elba police and members of the county sheriff's department.

The parents of the youth received treatment at the scene and were admitted to the Elba General Hospital suffering from shock.

Billy Veasey shivers while rescuers search for the body of his friend.

Council Gets Critical Report Of Program Fired Employee Charges Misconduct

The Elba City Council met Tuesday night with all members present and voting. Mayor Robert Folsom opened the meeting by referring to an inspection report received from the Southeast Alabama Regional Planning and Development Commission concerning the Elba Senior Citizen Center.

The report was critical of the local center on a number of points, including the fact that most of the participants eat their Noon meal at the center five days a week, when two is the maximum allowed by government regulations. The location was criticized as being too far from the mainstream and the apparent lack of crafts and games among the participants was also criticized.

The inspecting agency supervises twenty such centers and, according to the report, "I must tell you, Mayor Folsom, that Elba rates in the group, on a scale of one to 20, between 17 and 20 from the standpoint of a physical plant; yet, in the operational phase of serving meals to senior citizens, they rate in the bottom, or number 20."

The report indicated funds are available to properly prepare a center in a better location than the recreation center, and that immediate efforts must be made to feed more senior citizens and to get them involved in crafts, art or games.

Copies of the report were mailed to Elba Center Manager, Mrs. LaRue Dunaway; City Clerk Jack Prescott and Mayor-elect Bob English. Folsom announced that a meeting was scheduled this week to discuss the problems with the sponsoring agency.

Mr. Hal Cannon requested an extension of an option on some city-owned property. He represents a group wanting to build some government-financed homes in Elba. The Council refused the request on a 4-2 vote, citing conflict with the local housing authority. Voting for the extended option was Councilmen Jimmy Wise and Charles Kennett. Wise cited the need for apartments by young people as one of the greatest needs in the community.

Bill Tucker of G. Reynolds Watkins Engineering again appeared before the Council and requested approval to file Elba's request for funding under the Community Development Block Grant program. The Council postponed any action on this matter as they did two weeks ago and also four weeks ago. Councilman John Sharpless said, "I have no gripe with the people we are now with and hesitate to change horses as they have gotten us some money this year."

Councilman Wise requested work be done to clean up the streets and sidewalks of trash, dirt and weeds in the cracks. Folsom promised to get started Wednesday or Thursday.

Councilman Charles Kennett made a motion that a permanent plaque be erected at the new city hall listing the date it was purchased and listing the names of the city officials and Water and Electric Board at the time of purchase. This passed unanimously.

Insurance Co. Issues Report Of Income

National Security Insurance Company recently reported statutory earnings from operations for the six months ended June 30, 1980, of $809,451 or 78 cents per share, compared with $1,143,551 or $1.10 per share for the same period in 1979.

For the second quarter ended June 30, 1980, operating income was $434,739 or 42 cents per share compared with $686,952 or 66 cents per share for the second quarter last year.

Commenting on the results for the first half, Mr. Jack Brunson, president, said, "The earnings decline was the result of higher losses in the Fire Company and slightly higher claims in the Life Company. Investment income declined during the quarter due to lower interest rates, but remained up the first half of the year."

With its home office here in Elba, National Security sells a complete line of life, fire, and casualty policies. Its shares are traded in the over-the-counter market with the NASDAQ symbol NSIC.

Highway Department Closing Part Of Highway For Repairs

The State of Alabama Highway Department has begun work on Alabama 87 from Elba to the Coffee-Pike County line. The first order of work is constructing the bridge culvert at Dorsey Branch and making a grade change near County Road 21.

Through traffic is being routed from downtown Elba over Alabama 125 and County Road 37 while this portion of the work is being done. It is estimated that it will take approximately 90 days to complete.

All local traffic between downtown Elba and County Road 37 will be allowed access to residences and places

The Elba City Council heard a multitude of charges from a recently fired city employee. The charges included statements that he "didn't kiss tails" was the reason he was fired, that he was stealing gas, spark plugs and other parts, and working on private vehicles in the city shop. Mayor Folsom denied all these charges and challenged the man to prove any of them.

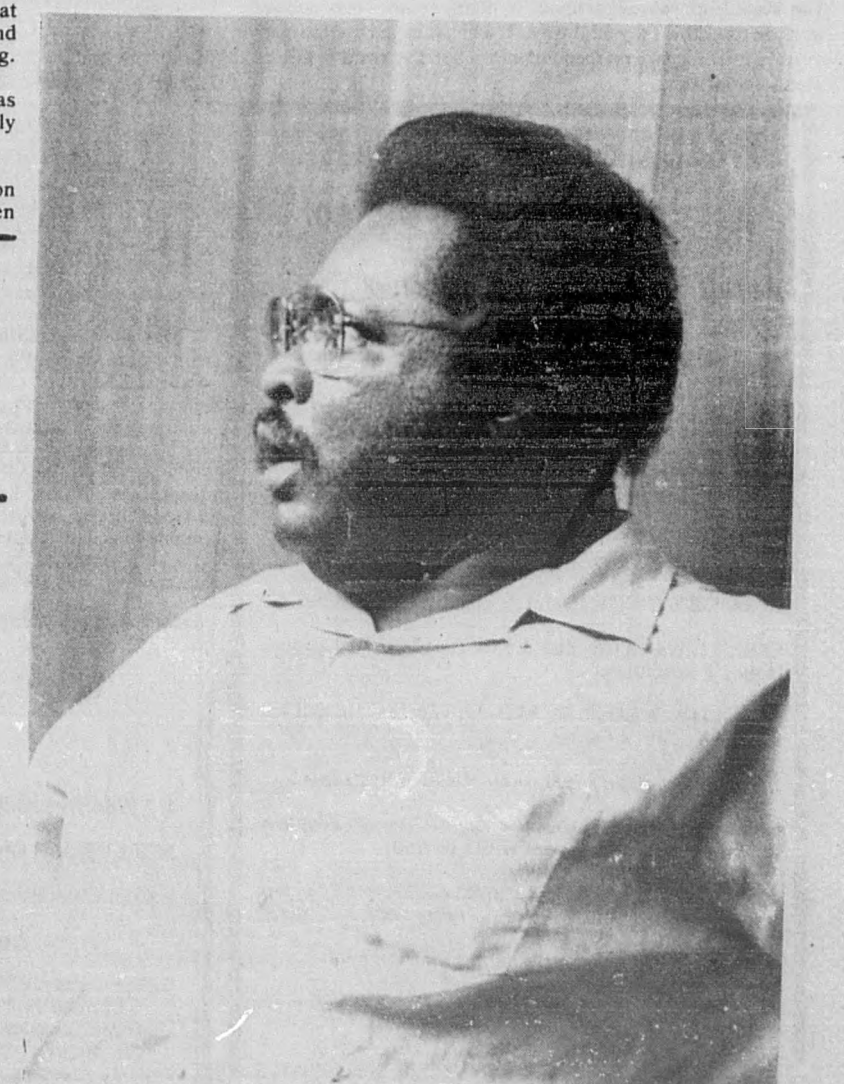

Willie Knight, who was working for the city and was being paid with funds from a CETA grant, is the former employee, and he addressed the Council and asked them for his job back. No action was taken, but the Council instructed the mayor to look into the charges and report back. It was agreed that a further report would be made at the next Council meeting and that Knight would bring his witnesses and other information to the same meeting.

Folsom said the reason Knight was terminated was "your work was highly unsatisfactory."

The early part of the discussion centered around a Monday when I was more than a little surprised last week when the Alabama sports writers picked Elba to win the state 3A crown. Everyone feels the Tigers are headed for a banner year, and I'm expecting us to post a lot of wins; but I'm not going to go out on a limb and pick us to win the state championship! We've got a veteran team and a veteran coaching staff, and if some people come through in key positions, it could just be the "Year of the Tiger."

The people in town are getting excited, as is evident by the large number of reserve seats that have been sold, and as the season opener nears, the fever will spread all over town. It's going to be quite a season!

Go-kart races were held on Saturday night at the track across from the airport, and a large crowd was on hand to watch a night filled with excitement. The track, one of the best around, is now lighted and in great shape. More and more people are getting involved in this sport every day, and soon we may have the top go-kart track in this part of the state.

I watched the Yankee-Oriole game on TV Sunday, and really enjoyed it. I'm a Yankee fan, and I always pull for Reggie Jackson; but even the 1-0 loss and Jackson striking out 3 times couldn't spoil the game. Both pitchers had excellent games and there were several defensive gems on both sides. An Oriole batter hit a home run which was called a ground rule double by the umpire, and the announcers really gave the ump a hard time. However, the announcers had to run the tape in slow motion about a dozen times before they could prove the ump wrong!

I always back umpires' decisions, and this ump made the call quick and stood up for his call. Remember, he can't slow down the action and watch it again.

The A.S.A. National Softball Tourney will be held in Montgomery on the long Labor Day weekend, and it should be quite a show. The "top 40" teams in the nation will be there, and for local softball buffs, here's your chance to see the World Series of Softball.

Make your plans now to go up at least one day and see the best in the world go at it!

Football season is almost here and all the local teams are busily preparing for a successful year. To let everyone know what to expect, next week we'll run a special feature on all the local favorites. The feature will include an in-depth look at the teams - and pictures, pictures and more pictures! Be looking for it next week.

I talked with "Ye Ole Polish Prognosticator" last week and he told me he was cleaning his crystal ball in preparation for another year of fearless forecasts. His picks start next week, and he promises to have his best season ever! We'll see

Elba Tigers Picked Number 1 In Class 3A In Pre-Season Football Poll

Elba assistant coaches John Frank Hudson and Bill Rayborn explain proper fundamentals during Monday practice session.

Florida Bass Growing Big In Alabama Lakes

Nearly 1.5 million Florida bass, a subspecies of largemouth bass, have been stocked into Alabama waters since 1966, according to records of Game and Fish Division, Department of Conservation and Natural Resources. These Florida bass fingerlings have been stocked throughout the state in farm ponds, state-owned public fishing lakes and in new public reservoirs.

The Florida subspecies has been of recent interest to fishermen and fishery biologists. The Game and Fish Division began research on the Florida bass in 1969, comparing it to our native northern largemouth. The results of this study showed the Florida bass was equal to or better than our native bass.

In maintaining "balance" in bass-bluegill populations, this study also showed that exceptional growth was exhibited in some individuals of the Florida bass and hybrids, or intergrades between Florida and northern bass. Other studies have indicated that Florida bass have a higher potential for obtaining trophy size.

Our present state record largemouth bass of 14 pounds 4 ounces is a Florida bass caught in a pond stocked in 1967. By 1981, Florida bass will be used for all farm ponds stocked by the Game and Fish Division. These farm ponds will also help introduce Florida bass into public waters through the natural loss of bass over spillways of ponds and lakes during heavy winter and spring rains. The stocking of 1.5 million Florida bass fingerlings in Alabama will increase the likelihood of an Alabama fisherman catching a trophy bass.

Sam Spencer, Chief of Fisheries, said, "We do not want to completely replace our native bass stocks, but to introduce the Florida bass genetics into our native populations. This is a positive step the Game and Fish Division has taken to brighten the future of bass fishing in Alabama."

The Alabama Sports Writers Association released its pre-season High School Football Poll last week, and the board of 10 sports writers from across the state picked Enterprise, Elba, Stevenson, and Billingsley to win state crowns in their respective classes.

Enterprise, the 4A champ in 1979, was picked to repeat as champs by 8 writers, while the other 2 votes went to Vestavia Hills, last season's 4-A runner-up. Elba, who posted a 9-2 state last year, was a surprise pick in 3A, but Coach Mack Wood's Tigers received 6 first place votes to claim the top spot by a wide margin. The Tigers have one of the state's top runners in Don Horstead, and running behind a veteran line, he could be headed for his best season ever. Colbert County placed second in the poll and received 1 first place vote, as did Eufula, Jackson, and Oxford.

In 2A, defending champion Stevenson was almost a unanimous pick for first place. The powerhouse received 9 first place votes and 94 of a possible 100 points. Cottonwood received the other top vote and was picked to be in the number two slot.

Billingsley, 12-1 last year, received only 1 first place vote, but totaled 56 points to nose out Hazlewood who was picked second despite getting 4 first place votes. Also receiving a vote for the top spot were Houston Academy, Carrollton (2), Nottulsa and McKenzie. The sports writers awarded points on a basis of 10 for first, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc., and the panel of voters includes Ron Ingram, Dothan Progress; Robert Ashbrook, Mobile Press-Register; Tommy Hicks, Montgomery Advertiser; Perry Ballard, Opelika-Auburn Daily News; Joey Kennedy, Anniston Star; John Alred, Gadsden Times; Reuben Grant, Birmingham Post-Herald; Steve Martin, Tuscaloosa News; Mike Goens, Florence Times; and Jeff Miller, Huntsville Times.

Coach Wood Feels #1 Ranking Is Compliment To Football Program

When the news broke around Elba last week that the Elba Tigers were picked as the top team in the state in Class 3A, there were a lot of surprised people. Included in the top team in the state in Class 3A was Elba High Football Coach Mack Wood.

"The pre-season poll did surprise me," said Wood, "but it was a pleasant surprise. I think to be picked on top is a compliment to what we've done here. The report that after this week all practice sessions will be closed to the public. Fans may watch from the fence, but all gates to the stadium will be locked."

When asked about practice, Coach Wood stated, "This week we're continuing reported that after this week all practice sessions will be closed to the public. Fans may watch from the fence, but all gates to the stadium will be locked."

"We'll put in some stuff to use in case we're in trouble. We will keep some plays on the back burner until we need them."

"We are all putting in a lot of hard work," added Wood, "and we've been able to get a lot of things done. We'll slack up a bit on Thursday, but will then hold a controlled scrimmage on Friday and put our best against the best."

In closing, Coach Wood said, "This week we're continuing reported that after this week all practice sessions will be closed to the public. Fans may watch from the fence, but all gates to the stadium will be locked."

We Are Called To Be Kings And Priest

Everyone would like to be a king, but not everyone wishes to be a priest. Kingship, in the minds of many, means easy living, whereas priesthood suggests sacrifice and labor.

In the Book of Revelation, we see that those who are privileged to be kings unto God are also priests. They have a double role. We hear John speaking for the redeemed and saying, "Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood, and hath made us kings and priests unto God and his Father; to him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen." Revelation 1:5,6.

Again in Revelation 5:10 we hear the redeemed in heaven singing praise to him who made them His "kings and priests."

What is involved in being God's priests? The apostle Peter said we are "a holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices" (1 Peter 2:5).

These "spiritual sacrifices" include our bodies which we offer to God for service day by day (Romans 12:1). They also include our praise which we offer to the Lord continually, even the "fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name" (Hebrews 13:15).

We are middlemen. We represent men and women before the throne of God, and we represent God before the world.

We are citizens of heaven who have been left on earth for a while to effect a reconciliation between a holy God and sinful men. God's priests worship Him and lead others to the same. They teach His word. They faithfully proclaim His love.

And a vital part of their ministry is Intercessory prayer. We believe priests are called to intercede for lost and dying men.

Pray for all men everywhere. Prayer is the priestly function that releases God's mighty power to move against the enemies of men's souls.

It's harvest time. The fields are white across the U.S. and around the world. The harvest is so great that the laborers by comparison are very few. Pray that the Lord will send forth more laborers into His harvest, and let us believe for a great ingathering of souls. It is not God's will that any should perish. His desire is that all should come to repentance.

Allyson Vaughan To Lead Volunteers Against Cystic Fibrosis

Miss Allyson Vaughan has been appointed to lead local volunteers in the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation's Fall, 1980 Special Campaign in Elba, reports Ralph Hobbs, president of the Alabama Chapter. The Specialty Campaign is held each fall and the citizens of all Alabama communities are asked to continue their support for the project.

Every day five new lives begin with cystic fibrosis, and every day three lives are lost because of this tragic disease. These are grim facts, but Cystic Fibrosis (CF) is a grim disease, causing complications in the lungs and digestive system. CF causes the body to produce a glue-like mucus which fills the lungs, creating an environment ideal for lung-damaging infections. The mucus also frequently blocks the flow of pancreatic enzymes which are vital to digesting food. CF is the number one genetic killer of youth. The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation sponsors research to find a cure or control for the disease, which takes the lives of half its victims before age 19. To help raise funds for this vital research, and for patient care and education programs benefiting children with CF, the Alabama Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation conducts this annual campaign. Research is the key to the future for children and young people with CF, and care and treatment are the necessities for the present. Your support will help buy time and give hope to children and young adults for whom time is running out.

Hang in there guys; you show the full meaning of will power. Putting away something for a rainy day requires a longer stretch of fair weather than it used to!

What? You know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? 1 Cor. 6:19

A Golden Anniversary is always something special. I can't think of a more deserving couple to be honored than Roy and Zelma DeVane. They are each descendants of a progressive pioneer family, who helped make Elba and the general area a more distinctive and growing country town.

Sunday afternoon from 2-4 p.m. in the Social Hall of the First Methodist Church is an ideal time to let this Christian couple know that we care!

Ruth Hawkins shared a worthy note of recognition with me. Her nephew, Dan Andrews of Montgomery, has been accepted in Medical School in Birmingham. Dan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mack Andrews.

This conscientious group of young men from Elba, Mike Bullard, Shane Bullard, Mike Nolin, Freddie Newman, Larry Suley, and Jimmy Smith prove they have the enthusiasm and determination to be employed and useful.

They hold responsible positions with Reco Construction Company in North Miami. However, they live in a motel in Fort Lauderdale and commute to their jobs.

Reco is a branch plant of Richmond Engineering Company out of Richmond, VA. Some of the group were formerly employed in Richmond, but were transferred to Miami.

When their work days end on Thursday, they head for Elba. Their van is equipped with beds. So the group works in teams, each responsible for only two hours of driving.

Of course, they enjoy Elba, and their families enjoy having them home for the weekend. Freda, Shane's wife, shares part her time and has learned to enjoy this area of Florida.

With their ingenuity and cleverness, Sible, Lucille, and Mary decided on a trip to Ft. Leonard Wood, Missouri. They would surprise Mary's son, Robert Henry McCall.

The day was set and they were off. Sible and Lucille were to take turns at the wheel. Mary would be the chief navigator. Mr. Webster describes a navigator as one especially skilled! The ribbon of concrete and blacktop were like a spider web. They meandered along. Sometime on the right freeway and some time just riding. Mary was too busy trying to see everything, and off times would forget to tell them before the intersection which number was coming up.

Well, before they reached their destination, they had seen a major portion of several of the Mid-Western states. Too, they were several days late arriving.

Once there, Robert greeted three of his favorite Elba girls and purposed in his heart to show these courageous ladies that he would be a perfect host.

First, of course, come home base-Ft. Leonard Wood, center for United States Engineer Training. Being a good history pupil, he shared some interesting facts. The center was built during World War II and over 32,000 Army engineers have received training there.

The center also provides basic infantry training for hundreds of recruits from the Mid-West states. Too, there were many other historical points.

Robert Henry wanted to see and experience a bit of culture and some excitement. So it was on to St. Louis. Some of the attractions were Forest Park, the largest park in the U.S. Everyone has to see the noted TV Zoo. Martin Phelps showed the Missouri Botanical Garden, the Botanical Gardens, and the popular Bush Memorial Stadium. Too, there is a "Jewel Box" in St. Louis. This one features numerous shows and exhibits.

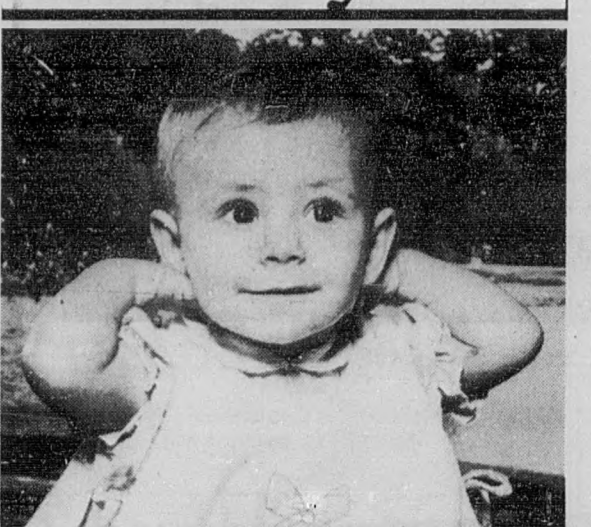

Without a trip to Alo Plaza, you haven't seen the real St. Louis. It is a must! The Alo Plaza features the meeting of the waters of the great Missouri and the mighty Mississippi Rivers. There are many historical and cultural centers in this complex.

Perhaps Robert got at least one good snapshot of the trio perched on the Gateway Arch to the West. Just to see them at the highest point (630 ft.) of this exciting view, viewing the metropolitan city, would be a nice souvenir.

In all it just took Mary, McCall, Lucille, and Sible, pleasant personalities, and expressive attitudes to make a trip to Ft. Leonard Wood, Missouri.

They would surprise Mary's son, Robert Henry McCall. The day was set and they were off. Sible and Lucille were to take turns at the wheel. Mary would be the chief navigator. Mr. Webster describes a navigator as one

PEANUTS

The word from the Peanut Harvesting Clinic Thursday night in Dothan was this: "Don't give up on this 1980 peanut crop!" Dallas Hartzog, our peanut specialist at Headland, told a group of about 350 farmers that he believes with adequate rainfall from now until the middle of September and a good to excellent leafspot control program we can harvest a good crop of peanuts. I hope that every farmer in Coffee County has at least gotten an inch of rain to start peanuts pepping. Actually, it is now or never for this 1980 peanut crop for most of the unirrigated acres in the county.

Hartzog said he didn't expect a record yield, but we could still make a good yield. If this crop stays in the field three weeks extra, this means that leafspot needs to be continued longer than usual.

Now is an excellent time, if you haven't already done so, to get harvesting equipment in top shape. When the time comes to dig, shake and harvest peanuts, you want to have everything ready. It is mighty discouraging to need to be harvesting and to have equipment in the shop. Go ahead and get this important work done now.

Speaking of equipment, keeping tractor, truck and automobile engines tuned up properly is a good way to save money. For example, if you increase the mileage on your car from 15 miles to 16 miles per gallon with a good tune-up, you have lowered your cost by about 6.5 percent. This means that rather than having to pay $1.06 to travel so far, you could travel the same distance for $1.00 after the tune-up.

A lot of farmers have a pickup truck, a larger truck, a tractor or two, plus a car. All of these gasoline burning engines together can waste a lot of gasoline over a period of a year if they are not properly tuned.

FIELD CROPS DAY
Coffee County farmers have an opportunity next Tuesday, August 26, to attend the Field Crops Day at the Substation at Headland. The program will include a tour of the research plots and a talk by Dr. Paul Backman on disease control in peanuts and soybeans. Dr. R. D. Kabana will discuss nematode control in peanuts, and Dr. Max Bass will discuss controlling insects. This year they also have a new special cut. This is a no-till corn harvested early and planted to grain sorghum. This will be an interesting demonstration to observe. I hope a lot of Coffee County farmers can attend. The program starts at 9:00 a.m. and ends around 2:30 p.m.

GOOD FOOD
I want to compliment Delta Airlines. Recently flew to Boston on an early morning flight from Montgomery. Somewhere over North Carolina, they served the most delicious ham that I believe I have ever eaten. It was not too thin nor too thick and was cooked just right.

On the way back for dinner they served chicken breasts. Then on the short flight from Atlanta to Montgomery, they served a little 3-ounce package of peanuts.

I thought about the fact that here is a great airline serving three of the commodities which we produce here in the county. I hope they keep it up.

PEACH TREE BORERS
Don't forget to treat your peach and plum trees for the peach tree borer. If you haven't sprayed already, go ahead and spray with Dursban. Spray the trunk thoroughly. Let the run-off accumulate at the base of the tree.

Unprotected trees will die in two to three years if they are not protected from the borer. Thiodan is also recommended for control. However, research in South Carolina proves that Dursban is the best material on the market for this pest.

GARDENING
We have planting charts on vegetables which can be planted now. About a dozen vegetables can be planted now that we are getting some rains. Select those that you and your family enjoy and make a fall planing. We still have about 75 days left until frost. Many of these crops will mature before then. If you would like to get a copy, call us at 894-5596 or 897-2776.

BARBECUING TIME
Barbecuing is a wonderful way to save energy, keep the house cool and entertain friends. Let me mention some tips in barbecuing chicken.

One of the secrets of success is to allow time for a long, slow cooking. Allow between 1 1/2 and 2 1/2 hours for cooking. Choose young, meaty birds weighing around two and one-half pounds. Split or quarter them, then place them close together on the grill with the skin side up. Baste the pieces with your favorite barbecue sauce. Remember, a tomato base sauce burns easily and should not be used until about the last 30 minutes of cooking time. I enjoy a lemon-butter sauce which doesn't burn.

Use a pastry brush or clean dish mop for basting. Turn the chicken every five or six minutes and use plenty of sauce. Use a pair of tongs to turn the chicken. A fork will pierce the skin and let juices escape—this will cause the meat to be dry. Test the drumstick to see if the bones turn easily. This usually indicates that the bird is done.

CANTALOUPE
When buying cantaloupes, some people use their noses, some their thumbs, and some study the color. And probably every one makes a wrong selection occasionally.

The stem should be gone, leaving a smooth, symmetrical, shallow basin. The netting or veining should be thick, coarse and corky and should stand out over most part of the surface. The skin color between the netting should be yellowish. All those signs means it's mature. But you also need to look for signs of ripeness.

A ripe cantaloupe will have a yellowish cast to the rind, a pleasant cantaloupe odor and will yield slightly if you press the blossom end with your thumb.

EXERCISING
So you don't like to jog. Walking can be as healthful as jogging. You just have to spend a little more time at it, and walk at a little faster pace than you usually do. Start out by spending about 15 minutes or a little more a day walking to and from pre-selected goal such as the school, drug store or a friend's house. Move just a little faster each time until you can get there and back easily within your 15 minute period.

Gradually set your goal a little farther away and allow yourself a little more time until you can cover about four miles in an hour. While you're walking, take deep breaths and shake your arms and hands occasionally. You'll find yourself feeling better physically and mentally.

Conservation News

Unsuspecting homeowners are often shocked to learn of storm water and erosion problems they inherit with their new homes. While soil erosion has been identified with agriculture and a rural setting for decades, homeowners and others should be aware that the problem is prevalent and equally damaging in urban areas.

Each year stormwater runoff at construction sites carries many tons of soil to our waterways. We must reduce the amount of sediment and accompanying pollutants that washes off the land from urban areas and enters our streams, rivers, and lakes.

W.B. Lingle who heads SCS programs in Alabama states that soil losses in developing areas of 50 tons per acre are commonly seen. "Soil loss depends on the soil, length of slope, cover, and of course, the amount of rain that falls," Lingle said. "Under certain conditions, a soil loss of up to 300 tons per acre a year is possible."

This fantastic loss would be the equivalent of about 60 dump truck loads. If a developer or homeowner had to buy the soil back to replace the loss at $30 per truckload, it would cost $1,800.

"Cleanup costs can be staggering, too," Lingle continued. "Machinery removing mud from roads, ditches, or streams can cost taxpayers $50 or more an hour to operate. The important thing to remember, whether we are talking about tax money or private money is that it is a whole lot cheaper to hold the soil on developing sites than it is to correct the problems caused by erosion," according to Lingle.

As the lead agency in the Cooperative Soil Survey Program, SCS can identify site limitations for development. They can estimate the amount of erosion on certain soils under various conditions. Also, many of the same practices and methods that control erosion and sediment in agricultural areas can be applied to urban areas.

Options are limited when a community is forced to remedy problems after grading and construction are completed. SCS Chief Norm Berg further says that "to be totally effective in protecting soil and water resources, we must get involved early in development plans or we end up treating symptoms rather than curing the disease."

SCS and local conservation districts can work with developers and community planners in designing stormwater runoff management systems.

WAKE UP CITIZENS OF COFFEE COUNTY!

Get involved in your county government! I have been talking to the people in all sections of the county for the past seven weeks. The majority of the people think that most of our elected officials have forgotten who pays their salaries. The county pays noone. You and I; the taxpayers; pay all their salaries. The elected officials who voted for a tax; whether it was state or county; should be remembered when we go to the polls. I still believe in government of the people, by the people, for the people; not government dictated to the people.

EXERCISING
So you don't like to jog. Walking can be as healthful as jogging. You just have to spend a little more time at it, and walk at a little faster pace than you usually do.

Start out by spending about 15 minutes or a little more a day walking to and from pre-selected goal such as the school, drug store or a friend's house. Move just a little faster each time until you can get there and back easily within your 15 minute period.

Gradually set your goal a little farther away and walk until you can cover about four miles in an hour. While you're walking, take deep breaths and shake your arms and hands occasionally. You'll find yourself feeling better physically and mentally.

Conservation News

Unsuspecting homeowners are often shocked to learn of storm water and erosion problems they inherit with their new homes.

While soil erosion has been identified with agriculture and a rural setting for decades, homeowners and others should be aware that the problem is prevalent and equally damaging in urban areas.

Each year stormwater runoff at construction sites carries many tons of soil to our waterways. We must reduce the amount of sediment and accompanying pollutants that washes off the land from urban areas and enters our streams, rivers, and lakes.

W.B. Lingles who heads SCS programs in Alabama states that soil losses in developing areas of 50 tons per acre are commonly seen. "Soil loss depends on the soil, length of slope, cover, and of course, the amount of rain that falls," Lingle said. "Under certain conditions, a loss of up to 300 tons per acre a year is possible."

This fantastic loss would be the equivalent of about 60 dump truck loads. If a developer or homeowner had to buy the soil back to replace the loss at $30 per truckload, it would cost $1,800.

"Cleanup costs can be staggering, too," Lingle continued. "Machinery removing mud from roads, ditches, or streams can cost taxpayers $50 or more an hour to operate. The important thing to remember, whether we are talking about tax money or private money is that it is a whole lot cheaper to hold the soil on developing sites than it is to correct the problems caused by erosion," according to Lingle.

As the lead agency in the Cooperative Soil Survey Program, SCS can identify site

limitations for development. They can estimate the amount of erosion on certain soils under various conditions. Also, many of the same practices and methods that control erosion and sediment in agricultural areas can be applied to urban areas.

Options are limited when a community is forced to remedy problems after grading and construction are completed. SCS Chief Norm Berg further says that "to be totally effective in protecting soil and water resources, we must get involved early in development plans or we end up treating symptoms rather than curing the disease."

WAKE UP CITIZENS OF COFFEE COUNTY!
Get involved in your county government! I have been talking to the people in all sections of the county for the past seven weeks. The majority of the people think that most of our elected officials have forgotten who pays their salaries. The county pays no one. You and I; the taxpayers; pay all their salaries. The elected officials who voted for a tax; whether it was state or county; should be remembered when we go to the polls. I still believe in government of the people, by the people, for the people; not government dictated to the people.
